

How the Tett Centre for Creativity and Learning is responding to COVID-19

Our priority at the Tett Centre is the health and safety of our community: our tenants, our visitors, and our staff.

Regarding the current impact of the novel Coronavirus-19 (COVID-19), please be advised that the TCCL and the City have determined that the J.K.Tett Centre shall remain open to the public at this time, as regularly scheduled.

Meantime, we are monitoring and following Health Canada and Kingston Frontenac Lennox and Addington (KFL&A) Health Unit recommendations. We also urge everyone to follow Health Canada's hygiene recommendations and to be considerate of others.

While the risk of COVID-19 in Kingston remains low, the TCCL will continue to monitor the situation and follow direction from the KFL&A Health Unit and the City of Kingston. For more information, please go to the following website:

<https://www.kflaph.ca/en/healthy-living/novel-coronavirus.aspx>

Most tenant organizations at the Tett have postponed group activities and programming. If you are uncertain if a class, workshop, etc has been postponed, please check directly with the organizer with whom you registered. The Juniper Cafe has decided to remain open and has updated their own preventative measures <https://junipercafe.ca/>

In addition to our regular cleaning procedures we have introduced the following measures:

- Our Tett staff are taking extra care to sanitize all public spaces, including doorknobs, handrails and other surfaces;
- The best thing to prevent the spread of the COVID-19 virus is to wash your hands (sing Happy Birthday for 20 seconds for proper duration);
- We are asking the community to stay home if they present symptoms;
- Informational signs are displayed in every restroom and throughout the public spaces of the building reminding the community of best practices to promote health and prevent the spread of infection.

The Tett Centre for Creativity and Learning cares deeply about keeping our community healthy. We need your attention and help to stay as prepared as possible.